

WHITE SLAVERS WIPED OUT OF WASHINGTON

No More Do Vultures Wait at Union Station to Lure Girls to Dens.

White slavery has been wiped out of Washington. That is the opinion of the women workers of the Travelers' Aid Society, who have about Union Station every day and night, and who know as much about the traffic as does any one.

"It used to be that men would loiter about the waiting-room of the station regularly," said one of the workers yesterday, "and try to pick up little girls who had come into the city to look for work, luring them to some den."

"Now that is practically impossible. The station policemen and detectives watch out for this particularly, in the outer rooms, and the matron and I see to the girls who come into the women's room. A man couldn't loiter about the station long without being watched."

The worker explained that few girls came to Washington as compared with other cities. Practically all the domestic work in Washington is done by negro women who live here, and there are scarcely any factories that employ large numbers of girls. Factory towns are the most favorable places for procurers to pick up their recruits.

Home Care for Girls.
Many girls are turned over to us by the police at the information desk," said the worker. "Girls who are strange in town get about rooming houses and places to work, and the information desk calls us right away. We have half a dozen sectarian places to send girls who have no money. The Jewish organizations take care of Jewish girls. The Y. W. C. A. will care for girls of any denomination. Negro societies care for negro girls. St. Gertrude's Home cares for Catholic girls."

"For girls who are able to pay their room and board we have a list of rooming houses that have been carefully investigated by the Y. W. C. A., and we can safely send a girl to any rooming house on this selected list. We see that they reach these homes safely, and if they are in need of work, we put their case before the society of the denomination or race they belong to."

The policemen about the station, and the matron in the women's waiting room, have lots of inquiries from girls who have just arrived in the city, and the Travelers' Aid Worker immediately is called to help these girls. There are always one or two of these workers on duty, day and night, and they are identified by little bonnets and badges. They work under the supervision of the Y. W. C. A.

During inauguration, extra women were on duty, but the workers found surprisingly few girls who came to the city unaccompanied by parents or some older persons. Most of their time was spent in caring for children who had come through alone, or with lost children, or aged women.

"Almost every day," said the worker, "we have a small child who is making a long trip alone, and who has a long layover in Washington. Yesterday I had a small boy who was going from his home in Mississippi to his grandmother in Pennsylvania, where he would be able to go to school. He had to lay over here all day, and he got something to eat and that he saw a little of the city."

"We take care of aged women who are passing through and need some special assistance. The matrons at the station are kept very busy and we help them out in caring for the aged women and small children. Often women get sick, or discouraged, or stranded here, and they need good advice or comfort more than they need anything else."

The worker said that women constantly get stranded at Union Station. Many come up from the South, with just enough money to carry them this far, and when the money means or other to be able to get to New York or some other point. These women are turned over to homes which take care of them until they get money from home or get work in the city.

ASSAULTED AND ROBBED.
Richard Kidwell, colored, 26 years of age, of Fairmont Heights, Md., reported to the police last night that while walking along Sixty-eighth street northeast, near the railroad track, he was assaulted and robbed of $10. The two assailants escaped. Kidwell is at the Casualty Hospital badly bruised.

WOMEN PREPARING.

800 Register for Course of Instruction Under Navy League.
Registration for the March classes, beginning next week, in the Theodore Bailey Myers Mason House, of the Woman's Section of the Navy League, 1606 Twentieth street, the first permanent school of preparation for women in America, has begun.

There are more than 800 students now enrolled in the various Red Cross and other classes in the school, and it is expected that by the time the March registrations are completed more than 1,000 Washington women will be learning how to give national service.

HOLD-UP MAN CAUGHT IN FLYING TACKLE
Football Player Joins in Pursuit of Alleged Highwayman and Proves Star.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Philadelphia, March 10.—Charles Hagen came down from Lancaster to "see the sights," and when he returns to Lancaster today he will have an exciting story to tell of being held up and robbed and leading a "stop-thief" crowd that captured his two assailants.

Hagen, who is 40 years old, met two men, thirty-third and Market streets last night. He accepted their offer to show him about a bit. They showed him to Sixty-third and Locust streets, where they threw him down, beat him, and took his watch and $5. Hagen pursued the fleeing highwaymen, yelling for help. Help came from every quarter, and by the time the highwaymen panted past Sixtieth and Chestnut streets a crowd of fifty men was hot behind them. A few from the corner Policeman Cox "nailed" one of the men and the other pursuers—a football player—brought the other to the ground with a flying tackle.

The prisoners—William Dempsey, Pennsylvania Railroad construction camp, and William Flinney—were held without bail for court today by Magistrate Pennock, accused of highway robbery.

THREW UP HIS HANDS, BUT KEPT $200 IN 'EM
Special to The Washington Herald.
Philadelphia, March 10.—When Max Steinberg was ordered to throw up his hands by four men who accosted him near his home early this morning, he complied, but he raised $200 in bills with him. As a result he saved the roll, although he was beaten and his gold watch, stick-pin and $15 in change were taken.

The assailants apparently ran down High street, but they were unable to find it, although they went through his pockets carefully. A revolver was pointed directly at him, but Steinberg took the chance of being shot and suddenly ran down High street. He was overtaken and beaten. Patrolmen McCabe and Murray approached and the highwaymen fled. Steinberg gave the police a description of the four men. Two hours later the police arrested Edward Dalley, 24 years of age. Dalley leaped from a second floor window to escape arrest, but he was caught by two patrolmen outside the building. Magistrate Beaton held him without bail.

BRITISH BAN ON GOLD RAISED FOR DENTISTS
England put a ban on gold.

"No, sir," the Britishers said, "none of the filthy lure shall be permitted gangway in our fair land."

Now, they notify us through "Postal Information" they didn't mean to make orders so stringent and add "if we could only have a few dollars in teeth containing gold" they would be so happy—oh, so happy.

"Please," their plea adds, "give this notice the widest possible publicity."

URGENT PREPAREDNESS AT "FRAT" BANQUET

"Stand by Authorities," McReynolds Tells Phi Delta Theta.

Urging that all citizens of every rank should be prepared to stand by their authorities, and advising the re-birth of a spiritual preparedness, which he deemed as important as a physical one, Justice James C. McReynolds, of the United States Supreme Court, speaking before the Washington Alumni Club of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity last night, brought his entire audience spontaneously to their feet fervently singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

"It has been emphasized in previous addresses," he said, "that we are in need of a material preparedness. This is very commendable. But I ask the question: Are we prepared spiritually? Do we appreciate our inheritance as American citizens and that this is the only place in the world where liberty is 'true' liberty and where hearts are not torn and bleeding by the horrors of war?"

"But that we may be prepared for an emergency which none but God can tell where it shall lead, I would emphasize a spiritual preparedness. For only ideal citizenship makes for the righteousness which exalts a nation. And if necessary, the right which, if need be, shall be defended by the bayonet."

Should Begin at Cradle.
"All citizens of all ranks should stand behind those now in authority and white their hands for an army large enough to defend our homes and toward a navy strong enough to defend our shores, the real patriotism should begin after all at the cradle where mothers teach their children to sacrifice for God and country."

"The secret of Count Zeppelin's success in building his warships of the air so light, engineers say, lay in its skeleton framework, made up of a myriad of aluminum girders and hoops. American engineers declare they can go the Germans one better through secret processes known only to American manufacturers for producing the finest aluminum alloys which will enable America to surpass the German Zeppelin both in speed and carrying power."

At a business meeting which preceded the banquet, a resolution was adopted that the alumni club of the University Club, resolutions commemorative to the memory of their "beloved and honored brother," Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston, were adopted. "His example and his record," the resolution reads, "of distinguished service to his country have been for many years an inspiration to all members of this fraternity."

Officers were elected as follows: Justice James C. McReynolds, president; Royal C. Johnson, vice president; George V. Triplet, secretary; Ralph J. Williams, secretary; Edward Stafford, treasurer; and Ralph J. Williams, Carl D. Sheppard and Isaac W. Hill members of the banquet committee.

The guests were: Duncan U. Fletcher, James C. McReynolds, Martin A. Morrison, William C. McReynolds, Claude N. Bennett, William Wether Lewis, of Chicago; Walter C. Wagner, Marvin M. McLean, Charles O. Appleman, Emerson W. Matthews, Ralph P. Barnard, Percy H. Hodges, Carl E. Shepard, of Akron, Ohio; John W. Fisher, of St. Paul, Minn.; Robert, Howard A. Edson, Leonard S. MEXICO GIVES JAPS ORDER FOR MUNITIONS
Special to The Washington Herald.
New York, March 10.—Fresh proof that Gen. Carranza is seeking Japanese favor was adduced today from a Mexican who knows the inside of the recent deal whereby orders from the Carranza government for about 20,000 rifle cartridges made in this country were canceled and transferred, unsolicited, to Japanese manufacturers.

The reason given was that the United States government by imposing certain regulations over Mexican ammunition deliveries had made it almost impossible for the Carranza government to procure, when needed, the munitions necessary to combat the activities of Villa, Zapata and other bandits.

This Mexican said the real purpose was to create a more friendly feeling toward Mexico in Japan. Whether or not the cancellation was made as a sympathetic move in behalf of Germany the Mexican who gave the information said he did not know. He did know, he said, that the order was given unsolicited to the Japanese manufacturers.

As to the number of German army men in Mexico, it was said yesterday that there are at least 100,000 Germans in various parts of Mexico who are "available for service if needed." Among them is Robert Fay, an officer of the German army and a one-time plotter in New York, who escaped from the Atlanta penitentiary last August.

WILL NOT OUST STONE FROM CHAIRMANSHIP
Senator Stone, of Missouri, against whom there has been a fight because of his stand on the armed neutrality bill, will not lose his chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This was definitely established yesterday afternoon after the joint organization committee concluded its labors, agreeing to report tomorrow morning to the Democratic caucus.

It was also learned that Senator-elect Gerry, of Rhode Island, and Senator Jones, of New Mexico, will have places on the Finance Committee. Senator Pomerooy, of Ohio, will be placed on the Committee on Privileges and Elections as successor to Democratic Leader Kern. Senator Thomas, of Colorado, and Senator-elect Knox, of Pennsylvania, are assigned to the Foreign Relations Committee.

MAY SURPASS GERMANY IN BUILDING ZEPPELIN

"Can Make as Good or Better," Declares Admiral Peary.

With the increasingly tense international situation, the first American "Zeppelin," which the Navy Department is now planning, has become the subject of keen interest.

A rumor was circulated in military circles last night that the exact measurements and a detailed description of the German super-Zeppelin recently brought down at Essex, England, are in the hands of American authorities, and that the first American military dirigible may show several features of Germany's latest model, with at least one great American improvement.

"I am satisfied that American engineers and manufacturers can make just as good, if not better, Zeppelins, dirigibles and aeroplanes as are made abroad," Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., one of the most prominent leaders in the move to have the United States control the air, declared last night.

"I am in favor of working out in this country every possible line of development in aeroplanes."

"The prevailing opinion is that Zeppelins have fallen far short of expectations in active warfare. That they will be utilized more effectively later on under peace conditions and with certain limitations, seems probable."

"Personally, I am a strong believer in heavier than air, highly powered machines, rather than lighter than air machines. The heavier than air type will not doubt far outstrip the other type."

The secret of Count Zeppelin's success in building his warships of the air so light, engineers say, lay in its skeleton framework, made up of a myriad of aluminum girders and hoops. American engineers declare they can go the Germans one better through secret processes known only to American manufacturers for producing the finest aluminum alloys which will enable America to surpass the German Zeppelin both in speed and carrying power.

FIND LOST ENGINEERS WITH AID OF AIRPLANE

Men Lost in Florida Everglades Located by Aviator.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Miami, Fla., March 10.—The three New York engineers who were lost in the Everglades for more than a month have been found by Philip Rader, an instructor in the Curtiss Aviation School here. He was unable to effect a landing near where he spotted the men, and a relief party will go on foot to their rescue today.

The search for the men has been conducted for almost three weeks by aviators from the Curtiss school, by natives and by Seminole Indians. The men are John W. King and his son John W. King, Jr., and William C. Culloway, Jr.

They started from Miami about five weeks ago in a boat on an engineering expedition. Rader, with Bert Tubbs, a surveyor as his passenger, has made frequent trips to find the men. They had a general idea of where the lost party would be, as it was known that the engineers had gone in on the Tamiami trail to learn whether the swamp lands about it could be drained.

The smoke from a campfire attracted them yesterday and going closer to investigate they discovered the three engineers.

WOULD GUARD FISHERIES.
Steps toward greater protection of American fisheries on the Pacific Coast and the prevention of American fishing ships being placed under Canadian registry were taken at a conference of officials here yesterday. Those participating were Secretary of Commerce Redwood, Commissioner Theodore Brent, of the Shipping Board, and Dr. Hugh M. Smith, of the Bureau of Fisheries.

From twenty-five to fifty American fishing boats now are seeking transfer, and wider powers even than those already conferred to protect the industry are sought.

LADIES' NIGHT AT SCHOOL CLUB

Dr. John Van Schatek, Jr., Tells of Relief Work in Belgium.

Ladies' night was observed by the Federal Schoolmen's Club last night at Fairmont Seminary, 2701 Fourteenth street. Dr. John Van Schatek, Jr., president of the Board of Education, addressed the club on relief work in Europe, principally in Belgium. Ernest P. Bicknell, national director of the Red Cross, who was scheduled to speak, was prevented from being present because of illness.

Milton Fairchild, president of the National Institution for Moral Instruction, was admitted to membership. Dr. W. C. Ruediger, president of the club, presided.

HERE'S A NEW METHOD OF POPPING QUESTION
Not "Do You Love Me?" But "Will You Be Mother of My Kiddies?"

Special to The Washington Herald.
Chicago, March 10.—"When you propose to a girl don't say, 'Do you love me?' That's old stuff. Ask her, 'Will you be the mother of my children?'"

This was the advice given by Dr. Charles J. Kurtz, a local physician, before the F. M. C. A. Other pointers on marriage offered by Dr. Kurtz were: "Don't wait until you are earning $50 or $100 a week. Get married even if the wife has to help earn the income. "Every man ought to have a wife and be a father by the time he is 25 years old."

"If you want dancing girls—the cabaret kind—go to the cabarets. If you want a girl who believes in church and right living, seek that sort of society. Learn what women are like before you pick the individual girl. Try to meet her in her home. Get acquainted with her father, mothers, sisters and brothers."

"Avoid extremes in physical or temperamental likeliness. No two persons of extremely blonde or brunette type, nervous or placid temperaments should marry. "Extremes in differences in age, wealth or education are no good."

It is estimated that not less than 1,000,000 cubic yards have been excavated for British, French and German trenches, extending 700 miles across Western Europe.
